Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuff from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous, stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.—Adv.

POSTING WOMEN'S NAMES.

Those Germans Who Fraternize with British Soldiers.

The following week the authorities reported that there was a falling off in the number of fraternization cases reported of more than 50 per cent.

STRIKE IS SETTLED

At Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, Terms Are Being Drafted.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, Sunday, April 6 (via Montreal).—The strike here has been settled, it is announced, and terms are being drafted between the parties to the controversy.

The strike at Johannesburg began late in March with a walkout of mechanics at the municipal power station and was due, it was reported at the time, to proposed relinquishment in the operation of the plant. The trouble extended to all branches of the municipal service and a grave situation developed because of the activity of a large alien pro-bolshevik element, according to reports.

OVER 2,000,000 BABIES WERE WEIGHED

During the Better Babies Campaign Conducted Last Year in the United States, and More Than 11,000,000 Women Participated.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Weighing of more than 2,000,000 babies, establishment of many new health centers to advise mothers on the care of their children, and stimulation of the movement to keep children in school and provide them adequate recreation, were reported to-day by the children's bureau as some of the results of its children's year campaign.

More than 11,000,000 women participated in the activities of the year, which was inaugurated last April 6, the first anniversary of America's declaration of war. It was planned to save at least 100,000 of the 300,000 children who die annually of preventable disease.

The first activity of the year was a test of children under six to see whether they were up to the standards of weight and height for their ages. Nearly 7,000,000 record cards were issued, of which more than 2,000,000 have been tabulated, with others yet to be turned in. A number of communities have undertaken a second test this spring to include children missed in the first and also to note improvement in those previously registered.

Need for preventive work on behalf of children was said to have been emphasized by the information obtained in the test. According to reports received from state child welfare chairmen of the council of national defense, communities in 24 states have employed new public health nurses during the year. From these states a total of 137 nurses have been reported. One hundred and thirty-four children's health centers to which mothers may go for expert advice concerning the best means of caring for their children have been established during children's year in communities in 15 states.

Swimming pools, playgrounds, and new leisure-time activities have become a part of the play life of boys and girls in many communities as a result of the year. From sixteen states the establishment of new playgrounds has been reported.

Forty-three states, New York City and the District of Columbia are engaged in a campaign to prevent boys and girls from going to work before they have the training they need for successful and happy lives. "Back to School," and "Stay in School" are the slogans of this drive. A number of communities have been provided scholarship funds to enable the children of needy parents to continue their education after they reach the legal working age. At least one such scholarship for each of the 281,000 school houses in the United States is the goal that has been set.

Although children's year is officially over, plans are under way in several states to make every year a children's year. A new consciousness of the value of the child and his need for good health, wholesome play, adequate schooling and protection from premature work is said to be indicated by laws contemplated by the states. These include many bills for the protection of children.

The children's bureau has planned a conference with foreign experts who have had a part in the work done by European countries for the protection of children during the stress of war. The conference will consist of two distinct parts, first, a small working committee of American authorities to be invited by the secretary of labor, and members of the bureau staff who will meet informally with the foreign guests at Washington during the week of May 6; second, a series of regional conferences in various parts of the country at which the discussion of minimum standards can be continued under local auspices and with references to local conditions.

HERE AND THERE

It looks as though there will be no Easter lilies this year, and if there are any on the market, the price will be so high that none but millionaires will be able to afford them. The cause of the scarcity is due to the fact that no lily bulbs were imported from Japan last year, the prohibition of the same having been the result of a government order promulgated, it is said, for the purpose of excluding the corn borer, an insect which was said to be gaining a foothold in this country. Not only were lily bulbs excluded, but others as well. Dealers, however, assert that the prohibition of the bulb importation is in a sense farcical, as it has been found that the objectionable insect is more likely to come through the channel of hemp with which packages from Japan are tied. However the case may be, the fact remains, as stated, that real Easter lilies will be procurable only to a very limited extent, and that this scarcity will have its effect in greatly advancing the prices of calla lilies and other flowers that may be desirable as substitutes.—Bellows Falls Times.

Ernest Harold Baynes of Meriden, N. H., the well known lecturer on wild bird life and organizer of bird clubs in many states, has gone abroad for the purpose of obtaining data concerning the part played by animals in the war. As the special correspondent of Harper's Magazine and representative of the American Museum of Natural History, he will visit most of the countries engaged in the great war. It is expected that his mission will be productive of results of great value.

A Georgia man, L. F. Scott, claims to have discovered a formula for getting the maximum amount of heat from coal. This is the formula:

Put three pounds of soda or saleratus in four gallons of water. Dissolve and sprinkle over coal in sufficient quantity to leave same frosted, when solution evaporates.

If the coal does not now burn brighter and give off more heat there is something the matter with the soda.

HAD A DULL STEADY PAIN IN THE BACK

Massachusetts Woman Is Enthusiastic About the Remedy That Restored Her Health.

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does. If the blood becomes thin and the supply is reduced, those muscles which are used most are generally the first to suffer.

Housework makes heavy demands upon the strength of a woman, and the back is generally the first to feel the strain. If the blood is impoverished, the much-used muscles of the back fail to get needed nourishment, and severe aches and pains result. These pains are warnings that you need a blood builder. It isn't a serious condition if treated at once with the right tonic.

Women who suffer from backache will be interested in the experience of Mrs. E. Grady, of No. 44 Elm street, Lowell, Mass.

"I had a steady, dull, aching pain in the small of my back all of the time," says Mrs. Grady, "and no liniments helped it at all. Whenever I would get up from a sitting position, the pain would be terrible. I had a pain in the left side and the left leg also. My stomach was disordered, and I was troubled with gas and had smothering spells."

"About two months ago I got a package of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the drug store and could soon notice that they were benefiting me. The pains left me, and my general health was better. I took four boxes and am feeling good now. The pills also helped my stomach trouble. I have great faith in them and have recommended them to my friends. My niece has also taken the remedy with benefit."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or you can order them direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for six boxes. Write to-day for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

GERMAN RAILWAY MEN MAKE THREAT

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES VINOL

Vineland, N. J.—"I am a schoolboy, 17 years of age, and typhoid fever left me weak and debilitated, so I had to stay out of school three months—my doctor prescribed Vinol. It has built up my strength and now I am feeling fine."—S. E. Bunce.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this boy's case, is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, rundown system, make rich, red blood and create strength.
